STORIES FROM 2019 NATIONAL DAY OF PRAYER EVENTS:

PLANES, TRAINS, AND PRAYER: INTERCESSORS ON THE MOVE

PLANES Part 1

As a new pilot, flying through clouds can be nerve-wracking; losing the ability to navigate by sight robs a pilot of the most basic, natural information our minds use in the decision-making process. Approaching a cloud, it appears as a barrier... until the aircraft continues right through the cloud and the pilot finds that it is nothing more than vapor; an optical illusion.

For PrayerFlight National Coordinator Kim Stevens, organizing this year's PrayerFlights on the National Day of Prayer became a step out of his comfort zone, moving him into the unknown and taking a risk. God proved faithful—barriers were not simply torn down, but shown to be no barrier at all in the strength and provision of our mighty Lord.

PrayerFlight is a nationwide ministry that pairs pilots with believers who want to fly over and pray for a specific area. On the National Day of Prayer, many PrayerFlights around the country fly over state capitols during local NDP events, or passengers will request pilots fly over their county or community during events.

When it was time to start contacting pilots at the beginning of the year to sign up for the 2019 NDP PrayerFlight events, Stevens, only in his second year as National Coordinator of PrayerFlight, saw a need to connect with more pilots. For one reason or another, many of those who had regularly participated were unable to commit to a flight. With a 25-year career in state aviation, Stevens is extremely well-connected and knew he could reach out in any direction to find plenty of pilots outside the group of ministry-minded pilots normally associated with PrayerFlight. However, the thought of going beyond those he was comfortable with felt like a barrier directly in his flight path.

"I was thinking, 'well, why bother approaching them, they have never shown any interest in spiritual things,'" Stevens said. "I was able to find a long list of excuses of why not to contact them, not even considering that God may have a different plan."

Stevens continued to feel the Holy Spirit pushing him towards the list of new people to contact, who may or may not be believers, but worried reaching out to them would be a fruitless endeavor.

"I remember finally saying 'okay I'll do it,' and being obedient to doing what the Holy Spirit was calling me to do, and then seeing the results," Stevens said.

Just as God was faithful to the early church in Acts "And the Lord added to their number" (Acts 2:47) PrayerFlight added eight new pilots across the country, a number that astounded Stevens. Even pilots who were unbelievers or unable to participate passed along the information about PrayerFlight to people within their sphere of influence who might be interested. Stevens was surprised by some of the new pilots who responded or passed the information along, because he had never seen them willing to engage in matters of a spiritual or religious nature. In total, PrayerFlights were completed in 40 states on or around the National Day of Prayer this year.

"I was surprised—though I shouldn't have been—but I saw God move in ways I hadn't anticipated or imaged," Stevens said.
